SUMMARY

The Intelenet Commission, an agency of the State of Indiana responsible for coordinating applications for USF support of Indiana's public schools and libraries, seeks review of a decision of the SLD which denied USF support for over $2.9 million worth of priority one Internet access services for nearly 350 public school and library USF requests all across Indiana. The SLD denied funding because Intelenet's application bundled $2.9 million worth of priority one Internet access services with what the SLD believed was $250,000 worth of eligible, albeit priority two, Internal Connections. The SLD's decision should be reversed for two reasons.

First, the SLD erred in classifying the routers at issue as Internal Connections. The routers are owned by the Internet service provider, not Intelenet or the public school or library, and are located at the demarcation point between the provider's network and the school/library network. The routers are nothing more than a component part of the "gateway" Internet access service described by the FCC in its Report and Order. The routers are not part of a school or library's LAN and perform no LAN functions at all. Rather, they are analogous to a router in a leased WAN that the FCC has determined to be a telecommunications service, not an Internal Connection.

Second, even if the SLD correctly classified the routers as Internal Connections, its decision to convert Intelenet's entire request – which was over 92% composed of priority one Internet access services – into priority two Internal Connections was clearly incorrect. The SLD's decision is directly contrary to the FCC's admonition in the Fifth Recon. Order that the revised priority rules would “ensure full support” of all Internet access service requests because it leaves $2.9 million of what the SLD does not dispute are priority one Internet access services completely unfunded. Moreover, the SLD’s retroactive application of its policy against bundling of eligible priority one and priority two services – a policy first appearing nearly a year after Intelenet filed its application – is so unfair as to be arbitrary and capricious. In fact, even today, nothing in the FCC’s decisions or rules requires the harsh policy against bundling of eligible services that the SLD has belatedly applied to Intelenet. Finally, the SLD decision is inconsistent with the FCC’s rules and SLD policies concerning bundling of eligible and ineligible services. Indeed, had Intelenet bundled $250,000 worth of ineligible services with $2.9 million worth of eligible Intelenet access services, the $2.9 million would have been funded. Indiana schools and libraries should not be completely deprived of support because Intelenet instead bundled eligible services together.

RE: Billed Entity Number: 151654
Application Number: 42537
Funding Request Numbers: See Attachment A

The Intelenet Commission of Indiana ("Intelenet") requests review of the Administrator's Decision on Appeal, dated June 8, 1999 ("Administrator's Decision") granting in part, and denying in part, Intelenet's appeal of the Funding Commitment Decision ("FCD") of the Schools and Libraries Division ("SLD"). (The Administrator's Decision is attached hereto as Attachment B.) The SLD incorrectly reclassified priority one Internet access services in the Funding Request Numbers ("FRN") set forth in Attachment A as entirely priority two Internal Connections. The result under the Commission's rules of funding priority was a complete (or in the case of a few FRNs, partial) denial of Universal Service Funding ("USF") support for over $2.9 million worth of priority one Internet access services for nearly 350 public school and library USF requests across the State of Indiana. Pursuant to 47 C.F.R. §§ 54.719(c) and 54.722, Intelenet seeks review of the Administrator's Decision and asks that the Administrator's Decision be reversed.

I. Statement of Facts

Intelenet is an agency established by the State of Indiana. Indiana Code §§ 5-21 et seq. Among Intelenet's responsibilities is to coordinate, along with the Indiana Department of Education and the Indiana State Library, applications for USF support for Indiana's public schools and libraries. Indiana Code §§ 20-10.1-25.6-1 through 6-3. In April 1998, Intelenet filed an FCC Form 471 application with the SLD for USF support for funding year 1998 for Internet access services to be furnished to Indiana's public schools and libraries.

On February 25, 1999, the SLD issued its FCD with respect to Intelenet's Form 471 application. The FCD approved $1.8 million in discounts for Internet access for a limited set of Indiana public schools and libraries, but failed to approve funding for Internet access for 351 Indiana public school and library USF requests, resulting in a total USF funding shortfall of $3.2 million to those schools and libraries. See Attachments C (Intelenet Appeal of FCD Letter) & D (Sullivan Declaration). The reason given by the FCD for declining funding of these 351 FRNs was that in each case the Internet access service was bundled with a router, which the SLD concluded was a priority two Internal Connection. Thus, for any FRN whose discount fell below 70%, the FCD denied the entire funding request.

In other words, the FCD declined to fund over $2.9 million worth of indisputably priority one Internet access services simply because it was bundled with what the SLD felt was $250,000 worth of eligible, albeit priority two, Internal Connections. Attachment D. It bears noting, of course, that there was no such thing as priority one and priority two services (much less the SLD's subsequently developed policy of treating bundled priority one and priority two services as completely priority two services) when Intelenet completed and filed its Form 471 in April 1998.

Intelenet filed a timely appeal of the FCD on March 11, 1999 (Attachment C). In its appeal letter, Intelenet argued that the site-specific routers at issue were merely a component of the Internet access service provided and added that the services that the FCD completely funded were identical to the services that the SLD declined to fund. Id. Intelenet also pointed out that Intelenet's Form 471 was focused entirely on Internet access, not Internal Connections, and that, on advice from SLD staff, Intelenet's Form 471 was structured as "site specific" (Form 471, Block 5, Item 16) rather than as a "shared service" (Block 5, Item 15). A few weeks later, after the application was filed, Intelenet was contacted by SLD staff and requested to change the application from "site specific" to "shared services." Attachment C. Another arm of the SLD staff subsequently contacted Intelenet, and as a result, the application was changed back to the original "site specific" approach. Id.

On June 4, 1999, Intelenet sent a letter by telecopier to the SLD further elaborating on the errors in the FCD ("June 4 Letter"). (The June 4 Letter is attached hereto as Attachment E.) Intelenet noted that the site-specific routers at issue are owned, managed and maintained by the Internet service provider; perform no local area network functions; are located at the demarcation point between the provider's network and the school or library's network; and serve as a gateway to the Internet without which there would be no Internet access services for the schools and libraries. The June 4 Letter also requested that, if the SLD nevertheless were to conclude that the routers were Internal Connections, the SLD should allow Intelenet the opportunity to unbundle and remove the costs associated with routers from the FRNs at issue so that the remaining $2.9 million of priority one Internet access services in those FRNs could be funded. Id.

On June 21, Intelenet received by fax the Administrator's Decision dated June 8. (Intelenet did not even receive a hard copy of the Administrator's Decision by mail until July 6.) The Administrator's Decision broke the FRNs into three categories, issuing different rulings on each.

In the first category were five FRNs that the SLD reclassified as entirely Internet access and, accordingly, funding was granted. The explanation given was that these five FRNs "included no router costs, (router was provided at no extra charge)."

The second category comprised seven FRNs,¹ which the Administrator's Decision partially funded because these FRNs had discounts of 70% or higher and thus, even when treated entirely as category two Internal Connections, were eligible for funding. Because the Administrator's Decision continued to classify these FRNs as entirely category two Internal Connections, however, the FRNs were denied funding for the six-month extension of the initial 1998-99 funding year.

The third category involved the remaining 339 FRNs at issue. Here, the SLD stood by the FCD, classifying these requests as category two Internal Connections in their entirety, and completely declined funding because the applicable discounts for these FRNs were below 70%.

In this Request for Review, Intelenet appeals the Administrator's Decision with respect to all of the FRNs except the five FRNs (141740, 141804, 141826, 141930 and 142533) that the Administrator determined to fund because (according to the Administrator) they "included no router costs."

II. Questions Presented for Review

1. Whether the SLD erred in treating site-specific Internet routers, which are a component part of Internet access service and which are owned by the provider and not part of a local area network, as "Internal Connections" within the meaning of 47 CFR § 54.506 rather than "Internet access services" within the meaning of 47 CFR § 54.5 and the Report and Order.²
2. Assuming arguendo that the routers are Internal Connections, whether it was arbitrary and capricious or an abuse of discretion for the SLD to apply retroactively the rules of priority established in the Fifth Recon. Order³ in a manner that completely deprives Intelenet of support for over $2.9 million worth of undisputed priority one Internet access services merely because Intelenet's application, filed before the Fifth Recon. Order, happened to bundle these eligible Internet access services with about $250,000 worth of eligible, albeit priority two, Internal Connections.

² Federal-State Joint Board on Universal Service ("Universal Service"), Report and Order, CC Docket No. 96-45, 12 FCC Rcd. 8776 (May 8, 1997) ("Report and Order").

III. Argument

A. The Site-Specific Routers at Issue Are a Component of Priority One Internet Access Services, Not Priority Two Internal Connections.

In both the FCD and the Administrator's Decision, the SLD appears to have focused exclusively on the Report and Order's listing of "routers" as an example of "Internal Connections" eligible for support and then latched onto the word "router" in the itemized listing of the component parts of the Internet access services set forth in Intelenet's Form 471 application. 12 FCC Rcd at 9021. In following this mechanical approach, the SLD apparently overlooked both the facts relating to the Internet routers at issue and the Report and Order's discussion of what constitutes eligible "Internet access" services.

The routers at issue are owned by the Internet service provider, not Intelenet or any public school or library. See Attachments D & E. Moreover, the routers are not located within a school's or library's local area network (LAN), nor do they provide interconnection between internal LAN segments, departments or building floors or rooms. Id. The routers also do not serve as a load-balancing device for an internal network. Rather, the routers are located at the demarcation point between the provider's network and the school/library's network and serve as a network gateway used by the Internet service provider as an aggregation point for Internet traffic. Id. In short, the router is part and parcel of the Internet access service that a provider furnishes to schools and libraries and, indeed, is the “gateway” to the Internet provided by the Internet service provider. Id.

Given these facts, the SLD’s classification of the Internet routers at issue as priority two Internal Connections is erroneous in two respects.

First, the routers are part-and parcel of a “gateway to an information service” that provides “data transmission, address translation” and “navigational systems that enable users to access” the Internet. Report and Order, 12 FCC Rcd at 9013 (describing what is included in eligible Internet access service). The SLD seems to have forgotten that Internet access service is not a service that may be provided simply by dropping a wire to a customer out of which the Internet magically flows. Rather, Internet access service is a service made possible by the functionalities of the various components that the Internet service provider assembles as its Internet access service offering.⁴ The Internet routers at issue here, owned by the service provider and a component part of the Internet access service provided, represent just such a part of the Internet access “gateway” service provided and therefore, under the Report and Order, should be considered part of a priority one Internet access service.

Second, the SLD’s treatment of the routers at issue is inconsistent with the Commission’s Fourth Recon. Order.⁵ There, the Commission noted that “a wide area network run over leased telephone lines” (unlike a wide area network that is built or purchased, and thus owned, by a state or an eligible school or library) is an eligible “telecommunications service.” 13 FCC Rcd at 5431 n. 585. The router at issue here, owned by the provider and not the school or library, is indistinguishable from a router in a wide area network (“WAN”) built by a telecommunications carrier and leased to an eligible school district library. The mere fact the price charged by the carrier for the leased WAN may include the imputed cost or “rent” for a router that is a component part of the leased WAN would not make the leased WAN any less of a “telecommunications service.” Yet here, the SLD has inconsistently treated a router, that is nothing more than a component part of Internet service offering, as effectively converting an Internet access offering entirely into an Internal Connection, even though, unlike the router in a LAN and much like the router in a leased WAN, the router remains the property of the service provider, not the eligible school or library.

B. Even Assuming Arguendo That The SLD Correctly Classified the Routers at Issue as Internal Connections, the SLD’s Decision To Convert Intelenet’s Entire Request, Which Was Over 92% Composed of Priority One Internet Access Service, Into Priority Two Internal Connections Was Contrary to the Fifth Recon. Order, Arbitrary and Capricious, and an Abuse of Discretion.

Even assuming arguendo that the SLD correctly classified the routers at issue as Internal Connections, its decision to convert Intelenet’s entire USF request -- over 92% of which is undisputed to be priority one Internet access service -- into a request for nothing but priority two Internal Connections was entirely unjustified and inappropriate. Indeed, it is difficult to imagine a more blatant example of letting the tail wag the dog.

Moreover, if not corrected by the Commission, the unconscionable result of the SLD's myopia will be that public school students and library users all across the State of Indiana will be completely deprived of USF support for more than $2.9 million worth of what SLD does not dispute are eligible priority one Internet access services.

The solution is clear: If the SLD believed that the routers at issue were priority two Internal Connections, it should have required the portion of the total costs associated with those routers to be unbundled from the total amount of the request and fully funded that portion of Intelenet's request -- a little over 92% -- attributable to priority one Internet access service. See Attachment D. Intelenet would be more than happy to work with SLD staff in arriving at the proper allocation. Indeed, most of the information needed to carry out the unbundling and allocation is contained in the materials Intelenet supplied to the SLD. See Attachment C.

The SLD's failure to allow the unbundling and allocation of Intelenet's funding request between priority one Internet access service and priority two Internal Connections was improper for at least three reasons.

First, the Administrator's Decision departs from the fundamental principle that animated the Commission's decision in the Fifth Recon. Order to adopt different rules of priority for telecommunications services and Internet access, on the one hand, and Internal Connections, on the other. The Fifth Recon. Order stated that the revised priority rules were intended to “ensure full support for telecommunications services and Internet access, and will also provide support for internal connections for the neediest applicants.”

13 FCC Rcd. at 14917-18 (emphasis added).

The SLD's decision here does not satisfy that principle at all. To the contrary, it leaves completely unfunded over $2.9 million worth of the very kinds of Internet access services that the Fifth Recon. Order states would receive "full support." And it leaves hundreds of public schools and libraries across the State of Indiana with no USF support whatsoever for undisputed priority one Internet access service -- all because Intelenet's application also included less than $250,000 worth of costs associated with routers that the SLD determined were eligible Internal Connections, but which were not directed at the "neediest applicants" (i.e., schools and libraries with discounts of less than 70%). See

But nothing in the Commission's decisions or rules commanded the SLD to reach a result so contrary to the very purpose of the rules of priority of the Fifth Recon. Order. The SLD could, and should, have required the unbundling of the costs of the routers from the requests and fully funded the over $2.9 million worth of priority one Internet access service in Intelenet's application. Any other result simply cannot be squared with the Fifth Recon. Order's decree that recurring Internet access receive "full support" under the revised priority rules. 13 FCC Rcd at 14917-18 and 14939.

Second, the manner in which the SLD retroactively applied the new priority rules to Intelenet's USF application is so unfair as to be arbitrary and capricious. See, e.g., Microcomputer Technology Institute v. Riley, 139 F.3d 1044, 1050 (5th Cir. 1998).

The funding priority rules which the SLD purported to apply to Intelenet's application were adopted in June 1998, two months after Intelenet filed its application. When it completed its Form 471, Intelenet had no way of anticipating that the Commission would subsequently separate eligible services into priority one telecommunications and Internet access and priority two Internal Connections. And Intelenet certainly had no way of anticipating that the bundling of priority one Internet access service with priority two Internal Connections might result in the treatment of the entire application as priority two Internal Connections, with the result that all FRNs with discount levels below 70% would be completely unfunded. To the contrary, even today, nothing in the Report and Order, the Fifth Recon. Order or the FCC's rules of priority governing funding, 47 CFR § 54.507(g)(1), prohibits the bundling of eligible services such as Internet access with eligible services such as Internal Connections, much less warns applicants that bundling of such eligible services will result in treatment of the entire bundled offering as Internal Connections. And it was not until March 1999, nearly a year after Intelenet filed its 1998 application, that the SLD website even advised applicants that on their applications for the 1999-2000 funding year, priority one and priority two services should be unbundled.⁶

Under these circumstances, the detriment to Intelenet -- and, more importantly, to the hundreds of Indiana public schools and libraries whose $2.9 million worth of priority one Internet access will go completely unfunded -- clearly outweighs any interest the SLD (or the Commission) may have in retroactive application of SLD's anti-bundling policy relating to the funding priority rules. Indeed, since the Commission's funding priority rules do not even require the harsh result that the SLD reached here and the purposes of the Fifth Recon. Order that adopted those priority rules was to fully support the priority one Internet access services that the SLD's decision has left unfunded, 13 FCC Rcd at 14917-18, neither the SLD nor the Commission has any interest at all in retroactively applying the SLD's harsh Internal Connection anti-bundling policy here.

Third, the SLD's decision is an abuse of discretion because it is flatly inconsistent with the Commission's policies in the Report and Order concerning bundling of eligible and ineligible services and the SLD's own policy concerning the bundling of eligible and ineligible services.

In the Report and Order, the Commission treated the bundling of eligible and ineligible services in two different ways, depending on the services involved. In the case of bundling of eligible Internet access service and ineligible Internet content services, the Commission allowed bundling as long as the amount of ineligible content service is minimal and the support sought is limited to that portion of the total charge that is properly allocated to eligible Internet access service. 12 FCC Rcd at 9014. In the case of bundled eligible Internal Connections and ineligible facilities like CPE or PCs, the Commission in the Report and Order decided that bundled packages of this nature were not eligible for support unless the provider separately prices the eligible and ineligible services. Id. at 9022-23.

The SLD, in addressing applications bundling both eligible and ineligible services, has consistently followed a policy of denying funding completely only when ineligible services represent more than 50% of the total contract amount. Where ineligible services represent less than 50% of the total amount, the SLD has consistently allowed applicants to unbundle the eligible and ineligible amounts and funded the eligible service portion of the contract.⁷

Thus, where eligible services and ineligible services are bundled, both the Commission and the SLD have allowed applicants to nevertheless obtain support for the eligible portion of the contract. Indeed, in the case of the SLD's 50% policy, the SLD seems to have allowed support for the eligible service portion of bundled eligible and ineligible service contracts where the Report and Order indicates that the entire contract should be unfunded.

In the case of Intelenet, however, the SLD has effectively disallowed the bundling of eligible services by treating the bundling of eligible priority one Internet access and eligible priority two Internal Connections as entirely priority two Internal Connections, resulting in a complete denial of funding for all FRNs with discount levels below 70%.

Indeed, Intelenet would have been better off under the SLD's 50% policy if it had bundled the $2.9 million of priority one Internet access with $250,000 worth of ineligible Internet content, PCs or CPE rather than with $250,000 worth of eligible, albeit priority two, Internal Connections. In that case, since the eligible portion far exceeds 50% of the total amount, the SLD would have allowed Intelenet to unbundle the package after-the-fact and receive full support on the $2.9 million worth of Internet access. But because Intelenet's application bundled eligible Internet access with eligible Internal Connections rather than ineligible services, some 350 FRNs, and $2.9 million worth of Internet access, will go completely unfunded.

It is difficult to imagine a more absurd result -- and one more at odds with the purpose of the FCC's rules and policies concerning bundling of eligible and ineligible services. The SLD could -- and should -- have allowed the unbundling of the priority one and priority two services in the Intelenet application, and fully funded the $2.9 million worth of priority one Internet access services included in that application.

IV. CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, the Commission should grant Intelenet's appeal, reverse the Administrator's Decision, and remand with instructions to treat Intelenet's 1998 application as priority one Internet access services in its entirety. Alternatively, the Commission should reverse the Administrator's Decision and remand with instructions for the SLD to work with Intelenet to allocate the portion of the application consisting of priority one Internet access services and to provide full USF support for that portion of the Intelenet's application.

Re: Billed Entity Number: 151654
 Application Number: 42537
 Funding Request Number(s): See attachment A
 Your Correspondence Dated: March 11, 1999

After thorough review and investigation of your appeal, the Schools and Libraries Division (SLD) of the Universal Service Administrative Company has resolved your appeal which seeks approval of additional discounts for the first program year. This letter addresses our decision concerning each Funding Request Number that was included in your letter of appeal for the above referenced Application Number. If your letter of appeal addressed more than one Application Number, a separate letter will be issued to inform you of our decision on the appeal of each Application Number included in your appeal.

Funding Request Numbers: 141740, 141804, 141826, 141930, 142553
Decision on Appeal: Partially Approved.

The following explanation is provided to inform you of the reason for our decision on appeal of these Funding Request Numbers, for those appeals that are partially approved.

Partial Approval Reason(s):

- Because they included no router costs, (router was provided at no extra charge), these services were reclassified as internal connections in error. They will be moved back to their original classification, Internet access, and funding will be extended through June, 1999.
- The discount was corrected on Funding Request Number 141740 from 55% to 60%, and on Funding Request Number 141826 from 60% to 44%, based on documentation provided by the applicant.

Funding Request Numbers: 141427, 141428, 141458, 161624, 142153, 143123, 143135
Decision on Appeal: Partially approved

The following explanation is provided to inform you of the reason for our decision on appeal of these Funding Request Numbers, for those appeals that are partially approved.

Partial Approval Reason(s):

- Services the applicant listed as dedicated service included routers in all of their one time costs. Routers are internal connections. These funding requests were categorized as internal connections services so as to avoid the possibility of treating priority two services (internal connections) as priority one services (telecommunications, dedicated and Internet access services). Since these funding requests have discounts of 70% or higher they will be funded, however, internal connections are not eligible for the six-month extension.
- The discounts were corrected on Funding Request Numbers 141427 and 141428 from 80% to 76%, and on Funding Request Numbers 141458, 143123, and 143135 from 84% to 86%, based on the documentation provided by the applicant.

Funding Request Numbers: All other Funding Request Numbers under appeal

Decision on Appeal: Denied in full

The following explanation is provided to inform you of the reason for our decision on appeal of these Funding Request Numbers, for those appeals that are denied in full.

Denial Reason(s):

- Services the applicant listed as dedicated included routers in all of their one time cost. Routers are internal connections. These funding requests were categorized as internal connections services so as to avoid the possibility of treating priority two services (internal connections) as priority one services (telecommunications, dedicated and Internet access services). Since internal connections are funded only at the 70% level or above, these services could not be supported for this funding period.
- Based on the documentation provided by the applicant, the discounts were corrected on Funding Request Numbers 137797, 137799, 137810, 137818, 137825, 137829, 137830, 141426, 141429, 141813, 141818, 141823, 141835, 142041, 142133, 142135, 142157, 142555, and 143530 reducing the percentage to less than 70%.
- For your information, the FRNs approved for funding as Internet access in your original Funding Commitment Decisions Letter did not include one-time router costs, but instead were “unbundled.”

If you feel further examination of your application is in order, you may file an appeal with the Federal Communications Commission, Office of the Secretary, 445 12th Street, SW, Room TW-A325, Washington, DC 20554. Before preparing and submitting your appeal, please be sure to review the FCC rules concerning the filing of an appeal of an Administrator's Decision, which are posted to the SLD Web Site at <www.sld.universalaccess.org>. You must file your appeal with the FCC no later than 30 days from the date of the issuance of this letter, in order for your appeal to be timely filed.

Since our appeal decision letter approves additional funding for your application, we must issue a new Funding Commitment Decisions Letter to you and to each service provider that will provide you with the services approved for discounts in this letter. We will issue the Funding Commitment Decisions Letter to you as soon as we can, pending completion of our review of all 1998 application appeals and quantification of approved appeals in relation to contingency funds reserved for appeals purposes. Only when you receive the Funding Commitment Decisions Letter from the SLD will you know the precise dollar value of the adjustment to your funding request. In the meantime, feel free to share this Administrator's Decision on Appeal with the relevant service provider(s).

With the issuance of this Administrator's Decision, the Funding Request Numbers cited above are no longer considered to be "under appeal." To the extent that funds were approved for the Funding Request Numbers cited above in your original Funding Commitment Decisions Letter, you should now move ahead, if you haven't already done so, with your Form 486 and related post-commitment arrangements for services for which funds have been committed and services have begun to flow.

We appreciate your bringing to our attention the issue you identified in your appeal. While we strive for excellence, we know that improvements can be made in our review process. We thank you for your continued support, patience, and cooperation during the appeal process.
